PREFACE

This report presents statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State, its counties, and minor civil divisions (townships, etc.). In addition, separate figures are also presented for urban places, wards of cities of 5,000 or more, and other areas of the State. These data are based upon tabulations from the Seventeenth Decennial Census of the population of the United States, its Territories, and possessions, conducted as of April 1, 1950. Provision for the Seventeenth Decennial Census was made in the act providing for the Fifteenth and subsequent decennial censuses which was approved on June 18, 1929.

The major portion of the information compiled from the Census of Population of 1950 will appear in Volume I, Number of Inhabitants, and in Volume II, Characteristics of the Population. This report is a preprint of Chapter 30 (New Jersey) of Volume I, which is to present, in a single publication, statistics on the number of inhabitants for each State.

The materials presented here will also appear as Chapter A of Part 30 (New Jersey) of Volume II. Volume II will comprise a series of separately published parts, one for each State and a summary for the United States. The use of separate parts makes the basic materials on characteristics of the population for a given State available to the public in a single publication. Within the part for a State, Chapter A will recapitulate the statistics on the number and distribution of the population within a State; Chapter B will present statistics on the general characteristics of the population of the various political subdivisions of the State, such as counties, incorporated places, and the like; and Chapter C will present data on the detailed characteristics of the population of the larger areas within the State, such as cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more and standard metropolitan areas.

The materials presented here were prepared under the supervision of Howard G. Brunsman, Chief, Population and Housing Division, and Dr. Henry S. Shryock, Jr., Assistant Chief for Population Statistics, by Dr. Henry D. Sheldon, Chief, Demographic Statistics Section, and Charles P. Brinkman, Chief, Population Distribution Unit; the compilation of the statistics was under the direction of Robert B. Voight, Assistant Chief for Operations. The collection of the information on which these statistics are based was under the supervision of Lowell T. Galt, Chief, Field Division. The geographic work, including the delineation of special types of urban territory and the preparation of maps, was under the supervision of Clarence E. Batschelet, Chief, Geography Division.

October 1951.

- V Block Statistics

Housing statistics for census tracts are to be included in the Population reports on census tracts.

NEW JERSEY

Number of Inhabitants

The State.—New Jersey was one of the Thirteen Original States. Its population on April 1, 1950, according to the Seventeenth Census, was 4,835,329. The State has a land area of 7,522 square miles. In 1950 there was an average of 642.8 inhabitants per square mile as compared with an average of 553.1 in 1940. Among the States, New Jersey ranked eighth in population and forty-fifth in land area.

New Jersey had a population of 184,139 in 1790 (table 1). In 1950, 160 years later, the population of the State was more than 26 times as large. More than three-fifths of the 4,651,190 increase over the 160-year period came in the period 1900 to 1950. The decennial rates of growth in the twentieth century ranged from 2.9 percent for the decade 1930 to 1940 to 34.7 percent for 1900 to 1910. The numerical increase of 675,164 between 1940 and 1950 represented a gain of 16.2 percent over the 4,160,165 persons enumerated in 1940.

Usual place of residence.—According to usual Census practice, which dates back to 1790, each person enumerated in the 1950 Census was counted as an inhabitant of his usual place of residence or usual place of abode, which is generally construed to mean the place where he lives and sleeps most of the time. This place is not necessarily the same as his legal residence, voting residence, or domicile, although, in the vast majority of cases, these different bases of classification would be identical.

In the application of this rule, persons were not always counted as residents of the places in which they happened to be found by the census enumerators. Persons in places where guests usually pay for quarters (hotels, etc.) were enumerated on the night of April 11, and those whose usual place of residence was elsewhere were allocated to their homes. Visitors found staying in private homes, however, were not ordinarily interviewed there. Information on persons away from their usual place of residence was obtained from other members of their families, landlords, etc. If an entire family was expected to be away during the whole period of the enumeration, information on it was obtained from neighbors. A matching process was used to eliminate duplicate reports for persons who reported for themselves while away and were also reported by their families at home.

Persons in the armed forces quartered on military installations were enumerated as residents of the States, counties, and minor civil divisions in which their installations were located. Members of their families were enumerated where they actually resided. In the 1950 Census, college students living away from home were considered residents of the communities in which they were residing while attending college, rather than as persons temporarily absent from their parental homes as was the practice in 1940. In 1950 the crews of vessels of the American Merchant Marine in harbors of the United States were counted as part of the population of the ports in which their vessels were berthed on April 1, 1950. In 1940 such persons were treated as part of the population of the port from which the vessel operated. Inmates of institutions, who ordinarily live there for long periods of time, were counted as inhabitants of the place in which the institution was located; whereas patients in general hospitals, who ordinarily have short stays, were counted at, or allocated to, their homes.

All persons without a usual place of residence were counted where they were enumerated.

Urban and rural population.—The 1950 urban population of New Jersey comprised 4,186,207 persons, or 86.6 percent of the population of the State (table 1). This population was living in the 209 urban places in the State and in other territory included in the urban fringe of the Atlantic City Urbanized Area and in the New Jersey parts of the urban-fringe areas of the four other urbanized areas partly within the State. Nine-tenths of the urban population of the State was living in urbanized areas (table 2).

The rural population of New Jersey comprised 649,122 persons, or 13.4 percent of the population of the State (table 1). Of the rural population, 114,964 persons, or 17.7 percent, were living in the 44 incorporated places and the 30 unincorporated places of 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants (table 2).

Urban definition.—Under the urban definition established for use in the 1950 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns,<sup>1</sup> and villages; (b) the densely settled urban fringe, including both incorporated and unincorporated areas, around cities of 50,000 or more; and (c) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more outside any urban fringe. The remaining population is classified as rural. According to the urban definition used in previous censuses, the urban population comprises all persons living in incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more and areas (usually minor civil divisions) classified as urban under special rules relating to population size and density.

In both definitions, the most important component of the urban territory is the group of incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more. A definition of urban territory restricted to such places, however, would exclude a number of equally large and densely settled places, merely because they were not incorporated places. Under the old definition, an effort was made to avoid some of the more obvious omissions by the inclusion of the places urban under special rules. Even with these rules, however, many large and closely built-up places were excluded from the urban territory. To improve the situation in the 1950 Census, the Bureau of the Census set up, in advance of enumeration, boundaries for urban-fringe areas around cities of 50,000 or more and for unincorporated places outside urban fringes. All the population residing in urban-fringe areas and in unincorporated places of 2,500 or more is classified as urban according to the 1950 definition. (Of course, the incorporated places of 2,500 or more are urban in their own right.) Consequently, the special rules of the old definition are no longer necessary.

According to the new urban definition, the 1950 urban population of New Jersey consisted of the following components: (1) The 3,548,117 inhabitants of the 194 incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more; (2) the 74,932 inhabitants of the 15 specially delineated unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more; and (3) 563,158 persons living in other territory in the urban fringe of Atlantic City and the New Jersey parts of the urban-fringe areas of New York-Northeastern New Jersey, Trenton, Philadelphia, Pa., and Wilmington, Del. Under the old urban definition, there were 12 townships in New Jersey classified as urban under special rule. The urban population according to the old urban definition consisted of the 3,548,117 inhabitants of the 194 incorporated places of 2,500 or more and the 299,654 persons living in the 12 townships urban under special rule.

The following table presents the 1950 and 1940 population of the 12 townships classified as urban under special rule in 1940 and the classification of their 1950 population by urban and rural residence according to the new definition:

As shown in the tabulation, 279,335 inhabitants of the places urban under special rule were classified as urban according to the new definition because of residence in urban-fringe areas and 11,286 because of residence in unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The remaining 9,033 persons were classified as rural. On the other hand, the 63,646 inhabitants in the 13 other unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more and 283,823 of the persons in other territory in the urban-fringe areas were included in the rural population under the old definition. The net gain in the urban population of New Jersey which resulted from the change in definition therefore is 338,436.

Although the Bureau of the Census has employed other definitions in the course of its history, the statistics on the population by urban and rural residence for the years 1790 to 1940 are shown in accordance with the 1940 definition. The 1950 statistics are shown in accordance with both the new and old definitions.

Trends of urban and rural population.—Trends in the urban and rural population can be examined only on the basis of the old definition. On this basis, the 1950 urban population of 3,847,771 was about three times as large as the 1900 urban population of 1,329,162 (table 1). The largest numerical increase in the 50-year period came in the decade 1920 to 1930, whereas the most rapid rate of growth occurred in the period 1900 to 1910. The numerical increase of 452,998 between 1940 and 1950 represented a gain of 13.3 percent over the 3,394,773 persons living in urban territory in 1940. Of the 70 incorporated places of 10,000 inhabitants or more in the State in 1950, 61 shared in the growth of the urban population between 1940 and 1950. The changes ranged from a decline of 6.0 percent for Passaic city to an increase of 211.6 percent for East Paterson borough (table 4). The number of cities of 50,000 inhabitants or more in the State doubled between 1900 and 1950. The proportion of the population of the State living in cities of this size, however, declined from 43.4 to 36.2 percent over the 50-year period. At the same time the proportion of the population of the State living in urban territory increased from 70.6 to 79.6 percent.

The rural population of New Jersey also increased over the 50-year period, rising from 554,507 in 1900 to 987,558 in 1950 (table 1). The numerical increase of 222,166 between 1940 and 1950 was larger than the increase in the rural population over the preceding 40 years. The increase represented a gain of 29.0 percent over the 1940 rural population, marking the second successive decade in which the rural population grew at a more rapid rate than the urban population. Over the 50-year period, however, the proportion of the population of the State living in rural territory declined from 29.4 to 20.4 percent.

Counties.—The counties in New Jersey ranged in size from Sussex with a population of 34,423 to Essex with a population of 905,949 (table 5). Of the 21 counties in the State, all but Hudson increased in population between 1940 and 1950. In the previous decade three counties—Atlantic, Cape May, and Hudson—had lost population. The rates of change for the decade 1940 to 1950 ranged from a loss of 0.7 percent in Hudson to an increase of 50.2 percent for Ocean. Nearly one-fifth of the population gain for the State was accounted for by Bergen, which had a numerical increase of 129,493. Three other counties—Essex, Monmouth, and Union—had numerical increases in excess of 50,000. The largest numerical increase in the previous decade was the gain of 44,669 for Bergen, which had accounted for one-third of the gain for the State for the decade.

Minor civil divisions.—To the primary political divisions into which counties are divided, the Bureau of the Census applies the general term "minor civil divisions." The minor civil divisions in New Jersey are the townships, cities, towns, boroughs, and one village (South Orange). In addition to these minor civil divisions, there are two villages (Ridgefield Park and Ridgewood), each coextensive with the township in which it is located.

Table 6 shows statistics on the population of each county by minor civil divisions for the last three censuses. The population of each unincorporated place and of Ridgefield Park and Ridgewood villages is shown in italics under the population of the minor civil division in which it is located. Unincorporated places are designated by "uninc." Changes between the 1940 Census and the 1950 Census in the boundaries of the areas listed are shown in notes to table 6. For changes in boundaries prior to the 1940 Census, see reports of the Sixteenth Census (1940), Population, Vol. I, pp. 673-675, and reports of earlier censuses.

Incorporated and unincorporated places.—In 1950 there were 332 places in New Jersey incorporated as cities, towns, boroughs, or villages and 45 unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more. The 138 incorporated places of fewer than 2,500 inhabitants accounted for 165,489 of the 3,713,606 inhabitants of the incorporated places. Of the 121,448 persons living in the unincorporated places, 46,516 were in the 30 places of fewer than 2,500 inhabitants. The incorporated places in New Jersey ranged in size from Island Beach borough with a population of 13 to Newark city with a population of 438,776.

Political units recognized as incorporated places in the 1950 Census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages, with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

The Bureau of the Census has delineated boundaries for the thickly settled urban fringe around cities of 50,000 or more and has also delineated boundaries for unincorporated places of 1,000 or more which are densely settled population centers without corporate limits. Although there are unincorporated places within the urban fringe, it was not feasible to establish boundaries for such places and therefore they are not identified as separate places.

The count of urban places in the 1950 Census comprises all incorporated places of 2,500 or more regardless of location and unincorporated places of 2,500 or more which are located outside the urban-fringe areas. Incorporated places of less than 2,500 which lie in the urban fringe are not recognized as urban places.

Urbanized areas.—There were four urbanized areas partly within New Jersey and one entirely within the State. The Atlantic City Urbanized Area had a population of 105,083. There were 3,687,804 persons living in the New Jersey parts of the New York-Northeastern New Jersey, Philadelphia, Pa., Trenton, and Wilmington, Del., Urbanized Areas. Of the 3,792,887 persons in the State living in urbanized areas, 927,459 were in the four central cities—Atlantic City, Jersey City, Newark, and Trenton—and 2,865,428 in the urban-fringe areas. The urban-fringe areas had 2,369,570 persons living in 183 incorporated places and 495,858 in the unincorporated parts (tables 2 and 9).

The maps and the keys to the numbered boundary segments of the Atlantic City and Trenton Urbanized Areas and the New Jersey part of the New York-Northeastern New Jersey Urbanized Area appear in the following pages. For the map and the key to the numbered segments of the New York part of the New York-Northeastern New Jersey Urbanized Area, see the corresponding report for New York. The maps and keys to numbered segments of the New Jersey parts of the Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia, Pa., Urbanized Areas appear in the corresponding reports for Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Each urbanized area contains at least one city with 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1940 or according to a special census taken since 1940, and some urbanized areas contain two or more cities of 50,000. Each urbanized area also includes the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that meet the criteria listed in the section below on "Urban fringe." Thus, the territory of an urbanized area may be classified into incorporated parts and unincorporated parts. (See urbanized area maps.)

An urbanized area also may be divided into central city or cities and urban fringe as defined below.

Central cities.—Although an urbanized area may contain more than one city of 50,000 or more, not all cities of this size are necessarily central cities. The largest city of an area is always a central city. In addition, the second and third most populous cities in the area may qualify as central cities provided they have a population of at least one-third of that of the largest city in the area and a minimum of 25,000 inhabitants. The names of the individual urbanized areas indicate the central cities of the areas. One exception exists to these rules. The central cities of the New York-Northeastern New Jersey Urbanized Area are New York, N. Y., Jersey City, N. J., and Newark, N. J.

Urban fringe.—The urban fringe includes that part of the urbanized area which is outside the central city or cities. The following types of areas are embraced if they are contiguous to the central city or cities or if they are contiguous to any area already included in the urban fringe:

1. Incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more in 1940 or at a subsequent special census conducted prior to 1950.
2. Incorporated places with fewer than 2,500 inhabitants containing an area with a concentration of 100 dwelling units or more with a density in this concentration of 500 units or more per square mile. This density represents approximately 2,000 persons per square mile and normally is the minimum found associated with a closely spaced street pattern.
3. Unincorporated territory with at least 500 dwelling units per square mile.
4. Territory devoted to commercial, industrial, transportation, recreational, and other purposes functionally related to the central city.

Also included are outlying noncontiguous areas with the required dwelling unit density located within  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles of the main contiguous urbanized part, measured along the shortest connecting highway, and other outlying areas within one-half mile of such noncontiguous areas which meet the minimum residential density rule.

Table 7.—POPULATION OF ALL INCORPORATED PLACES AND OF UNINCORPORATED PLACES OF 1,000 OR MORE: 1950 AND 1940

["Uninc." designates an unincorporated place. Figures for 1940 are not available for unincorporated places and places incorporated since April 1, 1940. Asterisk (*) denotes an incorporated place under 2,500 located in an urbanized area. Specific unincorporated places inside urbanized areas have not been separately identified and therefore not listed in this table. For 1930 population of incorporated places, see table 6.]
